DEMOCRATS OF WEBER COUNTY CONFIDENT OF WINNING THE ELECTION

election promises fulfilled, if those members are Democrats.

Cites Ogden Case. Inferring that this would be the case, if the Republicans were again successful at the polls, he referred to the recent liquor ordinance before the Ogden city commission, saying that it had been brought up by a Republican administration in face of the fact that both the Democratic and Republican conventions had declared for the complete wiping out of the liquor industry, and that a mass protest by the people of Ogden had been necessary to prevent its being put into effect.

C. L. Olsen of Salt Lake City, who was seated with the delegates, was called upon for a speech and, with a display of enthusiasm and oratory, responded.

The hope of Democratic success this year is justified, he said, "by the conditions that exist in this center of Republicans, Weber county, recognized in the past as the great stronghold of the Republican reactionaries who are now to be driven out of power. The center of attraction is now in Weber county and as far as lies in my power to obtain it, you faithful Democrats who have borne the brunt of the battle for years, are going to have special assistance from the State committee in the coming campaign. The chance we now have for victory is so good that it should inspire us all with new vigor that we might work and not lose our opportunity."

Continuing, he referred to a number of the progressive laws placed on the statute books by the present national administration and declared that no power on earth, no matter how well supplied with money, could stop the return of the same administration to power and, he ended, "Utah must fall in line."

C. C. Richards, at this point, arose to make a motion, but was interrupted by the entrance of Mr. Bamberger. Following the demonstration for, and the address of, the candidate for governor, the motion, which was to permit of the reading of a statement endorsed by the Democratic National committee, was put and carried. The statement, which was a review of the achievements of President Wilson, was read by J. A. Smith.

Seeking Republican Votes. On motion, the committee on credentials, organization and permanent order business and platform and resolutions, as named at the August 5th session of the convention, were reappointed. A letter from the state committee, requesting that the names of the district committeemen and of seven Republicans "who are known to be in sympathy with the present Democratic state nominees, and need only a little more urging to bring them into the Democratic party," be sent to the secretary of the committee.

The convention was then adjourned until 2 p. m. and the committee went into session.

The first business of the afternoon session of the convention was the adoption of the platform as reported by the committee, as follows:

Democratic Platform. The Democrats of Weber county, in convention assembled, approve the platform adopted by the Democratic state convention held at Ogden on the 18th day of August, 1916.

We also approve the nominees of that convention for public office, and pledge our loyal and untiring efforts to secure their election.

We are proud of the courageous and patriotic stand taken by President Woodrow Wilson in his unselfish effort to adjust the mighty differences existing between the railroad employers and their employees and of preventing the tremendous losses and hardships that would befall the American people if the railroad strike, now called, is permitted to occur.

We commend the president for presenting and urging the matter upon congress and commend the congress for its prompt action in endeavoring to prevent this great and threatening calamity. The action taken by the president and congress has already resulted in the removal of the embargo recently placed by the railroad companies upon the shipment of our fruits, our crops, our livestock, and the necessities of life.

We commend our state senator, the Hon. Joseph Chey, for the splendid record he made during the last session of our legislature in presenting, advocating and voting for the passage of many important measures looking to the betterment of conditions within our state, and especially do we commend his manly stand on the great prohibition question and appreciate his efforts in helping to secure the passage of the prohibition bill in face of the united opposition of the other senator and four representatives from this county.

We pledge the nominees of this convention to support and stand squarely upon the platform adopted by the Democratic state convention and to do all within their power to secure a prompt, complete and literal fulfillment of every pledge made therein, without equivocation, evasion or attempt to delay.

We also pledge the nominees of this convention, if elected, to an honest and economical administration of the public offices to which they are severally nominated, to the end that waste and extravagance in the number of employees and in the expenses of the offices shall be eliminated and the public service conducted with the same consciousness of responsibility that should be attendant upon a private enterprise.

We also pledge the nominees of this convention for the offices of county commissioners, if elected, to earnestly and promptly do all that they can legitimately and properly do, to encourage the development of our agricultural interests, the holding of county fairs and the building of good roads within this county.

Weprote against the excessive per diem of $8.00 per day and 12 cents per hundred words for transcription of stenographic notes now allowed by the district judges to be charged by the stenographers of their courts, when efficient and satisfactory service could be procured at more reasonable rates.

Four years ago, the Democrats and Progressives of this state joined in an earnest effort to divorce our educational system from partisan politics, and to that end nominated for state superintendent of schools, Dr. E. G. Gowans, a Republican. At that time the Republicans refused to join in that movement and nominated a party candidate, Dr. Gowans was elected and the wisdom of his election and of the effort to take our educational system out of party politics is evidenced by the fact that he has been unanimously nominated by Republicans, Democrats and Progressives for re-election.

We believe that our judiciary as well as our educational system should be entirely divorced from partisan politics, and we therefore endorse the non-partisan platform adopted by the judicial district convention, held in this city on the 18th day of August of this year, and heartily approve of the action of that convention in ignoring party lines in the nomination of candidates for judges, thus giving indisputable evidence of the sincerity of the declarations of that platform, and we appeal to all voters of this county, no matter to what party they may belong, to join with us in the support of the candidates nominated by that convention and in our endeavor to take our judiciary out of partisan politics.

In supporting the nominees of the Democratic party for judges in this district, upon a strictly non-partisan platform, no voter, no matter to what party he may belong, will be surrendering any of his political convictions.

In his position that sentiment in favor of a non-partisan judiciary and educational system may be crystallized into law, we pledge our candidates for senator and representatives in the legislature to use their best endeavors to secure the passage of laws providing for the nomination and election of judges and all public school officials on non-partisan tickets and without reference to party affiliation.

W. H. King Present.

The next hour was occupied by stirring speeches by Matheriah Thomas, chairman of the state committee, and W. H. King, candidate for United States senator. Mr. Thomas' address was an exposition of Republican misrule, he termed it, and a tribute to Democratic administration, past and present. In concluding his remarks, he drew the attention of the delegates to the fact that the election four years ago was lost only by a narrow margin and that by concentrated effort the tide could be turned toward Democracy this year.

"Get out the voters who have not registered, he said, and those who have registered and not voted. And when you meet a friend on the street, regardless of his political affiliation, speak the name of 'Wilson,' tell him that we have peace and that the flag is not sullied, and you will win another vote for the administration that is keeping the American people free from war."

At the conclusion of Mr. Thomas' address, a call was made for Mr. King and he was introduced amid an enthusiastic demonstration. The candidate opened his address with a fine tribute to Simon Bamberger, candidate for governor, and then talked along the line of Democratic beliefs and accomplishments. No nominations for county offices were looked for until late this afternoon.

DIVORCES ASKED FOR IN COURT

For failing to support her for more than one year, Bertha Lindsay is seeking divorce from Walter C. Lindsay. They have one child of whom she asks the custody. They were married December 21, 1914.

Secret visits to unknown places and verbal shows are given as just reasons for a divorce in the complaint of William George Donaldson against his wife, Iris M. Donaldson.

TAGS ARE PLACED ON MANY BY YOUNG LADIES

Hundreds of people in Ogden are wearing, today, the tags which show that they have purchased tickets to the Third Continental Congress, which will be given next Thursday evening as one of the opening attractions of the Fifth Annual Harvest Festival and Fashion Show. The campaign tagging was started early this morning and will be continued throughout the afternoon and evening by a committee of young ladies.

The "Tag-day" is being directed by Mrs. J. H. DeVine, Mrs. Fred Taylor, and Mrs. L. T. Dee. They are assisted by Misses Vera Browning, Marion Browning, Veda Eccles, Vivian Eccles, June Scowcroft, Ellen Scowcroft, Edna Wattis, Ruth Wattis, Alberta Wright, Dorothy Wright, Florence Wright, Gladys Rich, Lella Rich, Oertel Rich, Cleone Rich and Dorothy Browning. These tags are being exchanged at the Alhambra theatre for reserved seat tickets to the drama.

John Lawrence Adams, who has been made the official motion picture man for the festival, started this morning on the preliminary work for the taking of the pictures.

These will include the baby show, barbecue, "Third Continental Congress," the industrial parade and possibly some floats and decorated automobiles of the parade on Friday evening. One thousand feet of film are to be taken and will be shown in about forty theaters in Utah and Idaho, starting with an Ogden theater on Monday, following the Fashion Show.

The conservatory studios have been remodeled, retinted and painted and present an unusually cheerful appearance.

The reception will, undoubtedly, be a pleasant event.

MRS. ROGHAAR BACK. Mrs. Luke Roghaar has just returned from a two-week stay in Cache county, visiting friends and relatives in Garland and Logan.

DEPART FOR ARIZONA.

K. B. Holeman, assistant dispatcher of the Southern Pacific at Tucson, Arizona, who, with his wife, has been visiting in Ogden for a few days with the latter's mother and brother, E. A. Beemer and Paul L. Beemer, departed today for Tucson. Mrs. Holeman stopped over in Ogden on their return from a pleasure trip in the eastern states, and Mrs. Holeman will continue her visit here for several weeks.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS.

Royal Neighbors. Our camp, together with all other fraternal orders has been invited to take part in the big fraternal parade during Ogden's great Fashion Show on the evening of September 7, which we have gladly accepted. Every Royal Neighbor is urged to be present in order to make this a success. Meet at Odd Fellows' hall promptly at 6:45 p. m., as the parade forms at 7:15 and begins at 7:30. Bring ribbons. M. Crawford, Oracle.

TO RESIDE IN OGDEN. Mrs. Fred Hess and family, wife and children of Fred Hess of the Southern Pacific commissary department, are expected home from California, where they have been spending the past few months. They will make their home at 953 Twenty-fifth street. Mrs. Hess is well-known in Ogden as a talented musician and for some time has been studying under noted teachers in New York. Miss Perrill Hess has accepted a position in the Ogden High school as instructor of German.

ANNOUNCEMENT

RAILROAD MANAGERS LIFT ALL EMBARGOES, SEEKING PEACE AHEAD

Hardwick Supports It. Senator Hardwick, Democrat, declaring congress was being held up by the railroad employees, spoke for the adoption of the Underwood amendment.

"We will not measure up to what is required of us," he said, "unless we not only bridge over this crisis, but also provide that, never can arise again in this country, an opportunity for any man or set of men, railroad managers or workers, to seize this government by the throat as is now being done."

Senator Thomas also proposed amendments to make it a misdemeanor for any person to delay or obstruct the operation of trains, punishable by a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment for not more than one year or both.

Senator Sherman, Republican, assailed the efforts of the brotherhoods and of other labor organizations to prevent a compulsory arbitration law.

"It is the senate that is to be put under involuntary servitude," said he. I have been sought to be put under involuntary servitude. Legislation has fallen so low a degree, if we are ready so readily to abandon our duty, then American politics have reached the point where the few and not the many govern."

Senator Sherman charged President Wilson with making a "petty political bargain" on the eve of election.

Senators McCumber and Brandegee, Republicans, both opposed the pending bill.

Senator Sterling of South Dakota opposed the bill, declaring that he would not submit to congress being "dragged." The pending legislation he characterized as "a price of perfidious peace."

Senator Newlands offered an amendment to make it a misdemeanor for any person to interfere with the operation of trains punishable by a fine not to exceed $100 or imprisonment not to exceed six months or both. This, he said, followed exactly existing laws relating to interference with transportation of mails.

Senator Weeks said the brotherhood men had put congress in the position of "stand and deliver." He said he believed that a majority of the trainmen do not want a strike and that, if it were called, it would last but a few days.

"If congress accedes to this demand," he added, "it is an end temporarily, at least, to representative government."

Senator Reed denied congress was showing cowardice in passing the measure. He said the bill was designed to meet an emergency, that the brotherhood leaders were not attempting to force congress to legislate and that there were many senators opposing the bill who would not dare vote against it unless they felt sure it would have enough votes to pass without theirs.

"I find myself in the position where I cannot support the bill," said Senator Kenyon of Iowa. "I think the Underwood amendment would destroy union labor and I do not believe it should be destroyed."

"I am opposed to this bill because it is a humbug," said Senator Kern. The men will find themselves after nine months just where they were before with a strike on their hands. Furthermore, I am opposed to bill because congress is abdicating its right to reasonable judgment and mediation."

LIGHTNING STRIKES CERTAIN TREES

Recent statistics have been collected in different parts of Germany as to the danger of different varieties of trees being struck by lightning. The result has been the following percentages: Oak, 82.1; larch, 9.5; fir, 3.8; pine, 1.8; Scotch fir, 0.9; birch, 1.4; beech, 0.3, and alder, 0.0.

The character of the soil is an important factor among others as to the lightning danger. Trees growing in moist soils and along the courses of rivers and brooks and in the neighborhood of ponds are especially exposed to the danger. Trees with deep penetrating roots are more easily struck than those with shallow roots nearer the surface. As proof of this is the greater frequency of the apple tree being struck than the pear in the same orchard. It is also stated that the poplar stands first in danger before the oak, elm, ash, gum and pear tree. Together with the beech the least attractive to lightning are chestnut, maple, alder and mountain ash. Between these two groups stand the apple, cherry, linden and walnut.

During thunder storms it is advisable therefore, to avoid oaks, poplars, all varieties of pine, willows, elm and pear. If shelter is taken under a tree, which is always dangerous, it should not be under one standing alone. The planting of trees which attract lightning is recommended in the neighborhood of houses, especially poplars, partly to prevent the possibility of the rebounding of the lightning. It is well to provide such trees with metallic rods to make them really effective conductors of lightning.—Consul Talbot J. Albert, Brunswick, Germany.
